Transforming the Image of Nursing: Creating a Culture of Civility

PURPOSE

This program will examine the current cultures of nursing education and practice for behaviors and examples of incivility. The program will address ways to transform the image of nursing from one of perceived negative incivility to one of positive receptivity through nurse leadership.

OBJECTIVES

1. Summarize findings in current health care literature related to workplace incivility.
2. Describe the relationships among healthy work environment, patient safety and nurse retention.
3. Discuss strategies to establish and sustain health work environments in various types of organizations.
4. Identify at least three behavioral strategies that can be applied in one's own work environment to foster a culture of positive receptivity.
